AT THE CAPITOL.

BLAIR'S RESOLUTION REFERRED WITHOUT DISCUSSION.

A SCHEME TO TRAP THE DEMOCRATS.

The Latest Rumor Anent the Force and Turiff Bills -- Sundry Civil Bill Sent to Conference.

Forty-nine Senators-six more than quorum-answered to roll-call when the Senate met this morning. The credentials of Edward D. White, as Senafor from Louisiana, for the term beginning March 4, 1801, to succeed Senator Eusifs were presented. Mr. Morrill was granted Indefinite leave of absence because of the condition of his

Mr. Morgan introduced a resolution which went over, providing for a daily recess of the Senate from I till 1:30 p. m, while it meets at 10 a. m. A joint resolution was passed to per-mit Lieutenant Colonel Henry C. Corbin,

IN THE HOUSE. Immediately after the approval of the ournal the House proceeded to further consider the Senate amendments to the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill.

The first roll call disclosed no quorum present. A call of the House followed. There were 140 members announced as paired.

The remaining amendments were nonconcurred in, the bill was sent to conference, and the House at 2 p. m. ad-

Evidently he was impressed by this discovery, for he at once prepared and, yesterday, introduced his resolution for the previous question or some other method of closing debate. He did this without consulting his fellow Republi-can Senators, let alone by direction of the caticus.

The resolution was this morning. without discussion, sent to the Commit-tee on Rules, of which Mr. Aldrich is chairman, and the other members are Messrs. Sherman, Ingalls, Harris and

The Latest Rumer.

A story was told at the Capitol to-day to the effect that certain Senators vitally interested in the passage of the Tariff bill went to certain Democratic Senators and proposed that if the minority would let the Tariff bill go through without delay, they (the Republican Senators aforesaid), would do all in their power to prevent the taking up of the Force bill.

They were asked if they represented the Republican caucus. They said they did not. The Democrats declined to entertain the proposition unless those making it were clothed with authority from the caucus.

The Democrats, the story goes feared a trap. That the Republican Senators making the proposal would fail to influence the caucus and would excuse themselves on the plea that they had done all they could in the matter and could effect nothing. In the meantime a law and the Force bill on the road to become one.

The names mentioned in connection with this proposition are Hiscock, Allison and Aldrich.

The Cannon Sprawl,

Joe Cannon made a picturesque figure this morning as he lay sprawled out at full length on a deak talking to Joe Cheadle. The House was in session at the time, but the Speaker paid no attention to Cannon's recumbent attitude. It is hoped the Cannon sprawl will not become prevalent.

After the B. & O. Mr. Dawes offered a resolution in the Senate yesterday, which was agreed to, directing the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to inform the Senate whether the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company is proceeding to occupy certain parts of P. think the Prince of Wales a very clever man. I have often heard him tak in public and always well. has the inestimable gift of tact and he implies love in all his sub-icets. Whatever may be his faults, however gay and dissolute, he is always ready to do his duty to the public, and is a most inspiring presence at the open-ing of a bridge or the presentation of colors. At a ball he is still a dancer, although his rapidly increasing flesh would be in the way, one would think. The Princess keeps her enviable steadiness of figure. Their daughters are not at all pretty, and one regrets that the most beautiful princess in the world will "die and leave the world no copy."

Another Cisp-Trap Davice.

The Republicans in Congress have seen wanton in their pension profligacy. but it is simple justice to them to say that they have no idea of passing the bill to pension freedmen, which has been handed over to a sub-committee. They merely intend to make use of it to dazzle the fancy of their colored brother, on the forty acres and a mule plan. Yet the device, employed murely as a vote trap, is a significant comment on Read's claims in his Pittsburg speech that the colored vote is "our own."

ANECDOTES OF OUR MARY.

Going to Prove That She Was Once a Very Rittenish Person,

Apropos of the marriage of Mary Anderson, the American actress, to Antonio de Navarro, in London, some of the anecdotes that illustrate a few phases of her character are at this moment interesting, writes a Boston Mernid correspondent. I am not sure if that one has yet been told that concerns her in the period of her professional career, when it was her delight to chew gum, and to stand in the wings of the theatre and do what the world to to chew gum, and to stand in the wings of the theatre, and do what she could to "break up" the actors who were on the stage. Mary was playing Jollet to the Romeo of a man whom she valued as a friend, but whom she loved to worry. In the last act of the drama, when Juliet is writhing over the body of Romeo, bewailing his death. Mary, on an important first night in a certain city, tickled the Romeo in a way that threatened to galvanize the corpor and breatened to galvanize the corpse and threatened to gaivanize the corpse and ruln the scene.

In value the actor plead for mercy. He brought every whispered argument to bear upon Juliet to make her desist in her playfulness, assuring her that in actor leaves to some another instant he would have to squeal and to bring rhlicule upon them both. The actress did not heed the prayers, however, and continued to tickle him as she recited the heartrending lines of the herenved Juliet. Suddenly the actor changed his tactics, and, under actor changed his tactics, and, under his breath, uttered a string of curses. Juliet stopped short in her lamentations and trembled. Then she went on and Romeo was saved. After the performance it was very difficult for the actor to convince the infuriated queen of tragedy that he was driven to the heroic measure of swearing by her own deviltry. She finally decided that her mischief was more serious than she had fancied, but she declared that the oaths were unnecessarily violent. on the were unnecessarily violent.

On another occasion Miss Anderson

On another occasion Miss Anderson was living at a private house with some friends in one of the towns where she was playing, and it was her regular custom each morning upon rising to indulge in a pillow fight with the two young ladies of the house. During one of these battles, when the pillows were the thickest. Mary throw her missile at the head of one of the girls, but the latter, being agile, dodged, and it satled through an open window, lodging among the telegraph wires that ran in front of the house. The passersby were front of the house. The passersby were attracted by the strange sight, and as they glanced they discovered the tousled heads of three young women peering over the window sill, looking somewhat frightened at the ridiculous work they had accomplished. The prettlest of the heads was that of our own Mary.

TRAMPS KNOW HUMAN NATURE.

Sure Sign of a House Where there are no "Hand-Outs." A tramp who was rubbing a Woodward avenue lamp post the other day, says the Chicago Tribune, struck a pedestrian for a dime, saying he wanted o get a bite to eat. Why don't you try some of these uses around here?" was asked.

"I've tried all but that one on this block, and the people are either away or down on the perfesh."

"But why didn't you try that one?"

"I'm no fool, mister. I may not be purty, but I've got some common sense."

"Well, follow the street sprinkler and you can't go wrong. When it leaves a dry spot in front of a man's house you just keep away from that man. That's where they tie ropes around the chil-dren's bodies just before feeding time."

The Value of Experience.

From the Venunga ilpertutor A good story is told of a Republican candidate for the Assembly nomination in this county. He is an oil producer. About a year ago a man applied to him for a contract to drill a well. "Have you ever drilled any wells?" asked the il man. "No," said the applicant.
"Well," said the off man, "I must have man of experience."

Last week these two met again, and our oil producer, who had never held an office, asked the driller to vote for him. "Have you ever held a scat in the Legislature?" was the driller's query. "No." said the caudidate. "Well," said the driller, "I am going to vote for some man was head. o vote for some man who has had experience.

They Vote Under the Lash. From the Toledo Blods.

If all the Republican Senators who now preciaim their opposition to the Federal Election bill will be true to themselves at the crucial test and vote against it, the defeat of the infamous measure is sure. But such issue is doubtful. Too many representatives of that party in high places have shown that the only courage they possess is the courage to say what they think, and stultify themselves by voting as somebody else demands they shall.

Even Up Matters,

From the Phorantesition Record.
When in future there is any attempt nade to arrest and imprison a pharmadst or his clerk on the charge of makleg an error in a prescription, we would suggest that the physician writfug it have the same privilege extended to his person. We do not healthle to assert that the physician is the one most frequently to blame, and that more errors and falalities do not occur is due to the errors and falalities do not occur. is due to the carefulness of dispensers. This may not be a pleasant statement, but it is a truthful one.

Catarra Cured. A clergyman, after years of suffering from that fouthering disease, Cutarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at has found a prescription which completely cared and saved him from death. This left a vacant seat, but one which, while another seat remained, few men would have thought of taking.

The charming little trio, dressed in the purest of white gowns to which was given a dash of color by small roses pinned on their breasts, were evidently for a lark and their tongues liew like birds before a storm.

As they were enjoying themselves to their ulmost, testifying to the enlivening spirit of their talk by their bursts of musical laughter, a nattily attired dude about 25 years old halled the driver with his case, and getting on the tallend worked his way up to the trio and plunked himself down into the vacant

"He had passed two enapty ones, but neither was what he wanted. He was a stranger to the girls, and his presence frees them for a moment. Their fun was apparently spolled: but he didn't mind that. In fact, by the way he straight-ened out the kinks in his spine and smiled at the trio he evidently thought

"I was tempted to give him a pointer, but the actions of one of the girls told me to wait. She at whom he was staring returned his stare. She took him in from top to toe, then bending forward whispered in the ear of the girl facing her. She in turn communicated to the one beside her, whereat all three broke nto laughter.

"Then another took an ocular inventory of the chap and whispered to her friend, upon which out poured another

The dude greeted the first with a look of profound astonishment; the second with abject dismay; a third, which immediately followed, with terror; but as the three pretty heads went together for a fourth time he feigned to see some one on the sidewalk he desired to speak with, and without waiting for the driver to slow up be jumped off, followed by the taughter of every man on the grip.
